Verbal Education China

Mauritius is a culturally diverse country which allowed me to mingle very easily with people of different culture. Furthermore, I did my bachelor's and my master's degrees in the UK. Having a friendly personality. I befriended students from all over the globe upon arrival at university. The whole experience studying abroad made me want to teach abroad. In December 2012, I did some volunteering work for an orphanage in India. My trip to India was a great life experience and made me realised how fun working with kids can be. During my stay in the UK, I travelled to numerous places with friends and family. I went to Denmark, Switzerland, Netherlands, France, Spain, Portugal just to name a few. This has allowed me to discover interesting cultural differences from place to place and also improve my sense of direction.
